

Hey, My Name Is PJ Leonelli and I am a 15 year old Amateur Radio Operator. I have Carried my licence privliges for about 2 years and I had already passed the general written exam. Due to the block of "Morse Cose" the time alotment expired and I

Was unable accieve my goal of general licence. We live in a new era in which telecommunications is way more advanced an the "code" is way more than obsolete. there are many other modes of communication that are simplier and more efficient. I personally believe the death of ham radio will soon be upon us when there are not enough users to support HF and slowly our priviliges will be revoked for comersial use. Please drop the code requirements! You don't know what it opens up in terms of new licences and new hams. My respect will be ever giving if the measure passes. So please, get rid of this obsolete form of communicaton, and help pave the path for technology's future. Thanks You SO much
